Design in a Bag is a new and easy way for you to redesign your kitchen and bath. These collections of professionally coordinated and proven kitchen and bath design recipes offer the expertise and design sense of an interior designer without, well, actually paying for one.

On the Design in a Bag website, you can browse online galleries of coordinated kitchen and bath looks, each carefully designed and crafted by Rebekah Zaveloff, an HGTV contributor and the creative force behind Chicago's preeminent kitchen and bath interior design firm KitchenLab. The complete concepts include cabinet, countertop, tile and paint samples, shopping list and hand-drawn renderings delivered right to your door. Take the guess work out of design — you can touch and see the materials in your own home without going to a showroom before you buy. Each kit is about $100 — what a smart idea!
